GOOD FOR THE ADVERTISER.

Nothing has pleased the BULLETIN so much in a long time as the able protest it gives this morning against any extension of the speculative cable franchise. It is truly refreshing in apposition to the insane jabberings of the miserable, time-serving, wobbling, servile Hawaiian Star. With the assistance of the Advertiser the campaign the BULLETIN has entered upon, for circumventing the machinations of the unprincipled cable ring, will not be handicapped by the vile argument that has so often damped the effect of honest criticism—that it comes from "malcontents," "royalists" and "rebels." Mr. Spalding deserves not the slightest advantage in cable or any other matter pertaining to the welfare of this country. He has made his thousands, if not millions, here, but he spends his wealth in foreign lands. He has erected no monument of gratitude for the mild laws and the beneficent climate and soil of the country that have made him rich. Mr. Spalding is the replica of an Irish absentee landlord. Nevertheless, if Mr. Spalding were prepared to give us a cable, or had any intention to do so, or could prove that he was trying to give us a cable instead of making a little fortune out of a cable franchise, the BULLETIN if it had all the votes of the Executive and the legislative branches of our government in its pocket, would cast them all for Mr. Spalding's desired extension of the cable franchise. Mr. Spalding, however, has yet to give a scintilla of evidence of good faith in the matter.

THE COSMIC DISPLAY.

Referring to an article on the first page on the recurrence of the cosmic shower, which makes a periodical appearance every third of a century, premonitory symptoms of which may be seen to-morrow night if we are favored with a clear sky, it may be said that everything contained in the article is confirmed by Mr. Frank Brown, probably one of the best informed gentlemen in the islands on such matters. Mr. Brown has been making a special study of meteoric displays in view of the one now so near at hand, and has become imbued with the theory, and most probably correctly so, that the approaching display and accompanying cometary influences are solely accountable for the peculiar atmospheric conditions which have resulted in the unusually oppressive weather of the past six weeks.

Our confrere Mr. Farrington has the deepest sympathy of the BULLETIN in the personal disaster that befell him last night. It is hard, but he is young. Still it is hard, and if fraternal sympathy will assuage the mortification of his bride and himself, they have it of the most heartfelt kind.

Nat Goodwin the actor is a Dickens in epigram off as well as on the stage. To a BULLETIN representative he said: "I have been in Australia so long that I am too light to sink."

The arrests made this morning comprised a drunken and abusive Portuguese hackdriver, a kanaka for assault and battery and a Chinese for aiding and abetting a chef game.

TO BE SPANISH.

Description of Hotel Going Up at King and Alakea Streets.

Mrs. Wolter's new hotel on King street is having its wooden frame wire lathed plastered with a heavy coating of cement on both sides, which mode of construction is thoroughly fireproof, having been approved by all the great municipalities of the States and Europe. A building permit has been granted to it here as an "approved fireproof material."

Architect Dunn—who has had large experience with this class of building both in the East and West, studying for more than three years with Mr. Percy of Percy & Hamilton, the greatest constructionalists in the West—was out when the reporter called, he being very busy completing arrangements for the construction of the large hotel at Waikiki which he has lately designed, but his secretary courteously left the work on which he was busily engaged to give a description of the designs of this town hotel, which show a simple, well-proportioned, arched first story, carrying an iron veranda on the second story, the openings of which are protected by gay colored canvas awnings; above these pieces of logs project, representing the beams of the roof-garden, casting their purple shadows on the bright, cream-colored wall, which flushes to rich golden tones under our brilliant sun, contrasting very effectively with the dark green of the vines intertwining themselves about the gracefully curved cement columns of the roof-garden.

This last will be the crowning feature of this modern hotel, and one hitherto unknown to Honolulu. For the tired citizen or the jaded traveler, the cool and breezy nooks of the hotel Occidental roof garden will always have a subtle charm, bringing to the mind of the tourist reminiscences of southern Europe and other countries of sunshine and flowers; for at his very feet and all around will lie Honolulu, the prettiest town in the world, embowered in tropical foliage of varied tints. On one hand in the distance the blue haze of the Waianae mountains, on the other the bold form of Diamond Head; back of him the mountains of the Pali, with their picturesque valleys and cloud capped peaks; in front of him the harbor with its forest of shipping, and, further out, the shining sea with its ever-changing pictures of light and shade, calm and storm, and immediately around him, in the garden itself, scores of those brilliant blooms for which our island is so justly celebrated.

ABANDONED AT SEA.

Heroic Rescue of Captain and Crew by a Steamship's Officers.

The American ship Patrician, G. R. Sterling master, foundered at sea recently. The captain was the owner and a through passenger with his wife for home by the Alameda. In conversation with a BULLETIN reporter on the deck of the Alameda this morning Captain Sterling gave the following particulars of the disaster. As the second whistle had sounded, there was not much time for details.

The ship Patrician was bound from Newcastle for Lytleton, New Zealand, with coal, when, in latitude 39:18 S. and longitude 159:11 E. the ship encountered a terrific easterly gale, the fourth day out, with heavy seas. Much of the upper works of the vessel were carried away, and she becoming unmanageable it was decided to abandon her.

Just as the boats were clearing away and the ship was foundering, the steamer Fifeshire of the Shire line came on the scene. Captain Wilson and officers of the Fifeshire lowered away their boats, and, as Captain Sterling puts it, made one of the most heroic rescues on record. Captain and crew were all taken on board the Fifeshire and landed safely at the Bluff, New Zealand.

Captain Sterling said there was no insurance on the cargo, but he was uncertain as to what insurance if any was on his ill-fated ship the Patrician. He wanted no language spared in this report to the honor of Captain Wilson and his officers, for their gallant rescue of himself and ship's company in the midst of seas running mountains.

ENAMELED IRON PORTABLE BATH TUBS ETC.

There is a certain highly respected citizen of Honolulu who has a fondness for rice pudding. He has indulged this fondness to such an inordinate degree that he has for years indulged in a cold rice pudding upon his return home from his lodge. When he was going to be out more than usually late he would tell his good wife and the cold pudding was always left on the sideboard for him. The other night he was kept out later than usual at a Masonic banquet, but on returning home, in the dim light left burning low, he spied his favorite dish and ate the contents. The next morning his wife missed seven lace collars she had left in the starch over night, and she is now threatening to sue for limited divorce, not because of the loss of her collars but because her husband says that they tasted just like her best puddings. However, the husband has made his peace with his better half and there will be no divorce, unless it happens again.

The way he did it was to go to the Hawaiian Hardware Company's store and order one of their recently imported ENAMELED IRON PORTABLE BATH TUBS sent home. His good wife was so pleased that she forgave him on the spot. These bath tubs must be seen to be appreciated. They are the handsomest yet put on the market and they are not very expensive. Being raised from the floor on legs like a stove no moisture can accumulate underneath to attract cockroaches and beetles. These tubs are provided with handsome nickel-plated fittings.

To go with them we have imported specially some nickel-plated double bath cocks for hot and cold water with combination soap trays. The beauty of this novelty is that the hot and cold water runs out of the same faucet, either separately or together, and there is no danger of scalding your toes as so often happens in turning on the hot water separately.

W.W. DIMOND'S

Much of the solid silver ware used in Honolulu is bought in San Francisco by people visiting there because it is cheap.

Twenty-five per cent duty is a great deal too much to pay and it tempts people to make purchases while they are where they may buy it cheaper. There is nothing criminal in the transaction, just a bit of practical economy. There would have been no necessity for these buyers to go abroad, if dealers were willing to divide with their customers. The profit is large enough on solid ware to cut off the twenty-five per cent. and sell it at a margin satisfactory to every one. People do not buy when they are abroad because they can get better goods, but because they can get cheaper.

The selections made by us are from three of the largest factories in the States. We buy for cash and get the articles cheap and will sell them at twenty-five per cent. or exactly the same as is charged in San Francisco. We have child's sets at $6.75 and full tea sets for a great deal more; the quality has never been surpassed in this country and the prices have never been equalled.
